FEDERAL REBELS BATTLE FOR CONTROL OF JIMINEZ

AIRPORT FOR CITY HELD VITAL

The Pacific coast will be the trading center of the world within a few years.

Aviation is not a coming thing, it is here, many of us are slow in realizing it, however, Richmond can only make so much progress as she is willing to go out and work for, natural advantages alone are not sufficient to hold our own with the progress of the Pacific.

Airports are absolute essentials for a progressive city, the city without one is losing ground and soon will be out of the running altogether.

If you think don't like California, buy a one way ticket to any place in the world, don't make it a round trip for you will fly back to California and its many advantages.

These were the high lights of an address at the Hotel Carquinez last night by Harry H. Culver, of Culver City, president of the National Association of Real Estate boards. The banquet was (Continued on Page 5)

JUSTICE COURT HEARING TODAY

Whether Arthur Alstrom is a justice of the peace or is a plain citizen of this city will be decided in a test case action in the state supreme court in San Francisco today. The case is scheduled to be held at 10 o'clock this morning.

This case will be the first taken to the supreme court in which the legal standing of the township justice courts in cities having police courts of the same power with concurrent jurisdiction will be tested.

A decision handed down by the appellate court in 1925 declared that the justice courts in cities have police courts of the same power are illegal.

Pay warrants for Judge Alstrom have been suspended, pending the decision of the supreme court.

Manuel Romero of Richmond is the plaintiff in the action which will close before Chief Justice William H. Waste this morning. Romero, through Attorney Thomas Carlson of Richmond, filed suit for a writ of habeas corpus, declaring that he was being held in the county jail illegally. He was sentenced to serve 90 days by Justice of the Peace Alstrom on a charge of disturbing the peace. Romero declared that Judge Alstrom has no authority to pass sentence.

Sheriff R. R. Veale, defendant in the action, is represented by Attorney T. H. Delap of Richmond.

If the supreme court denies the petition of Romero for the writ, the legality of the local justice court will be upheld. If the writ is granted, however it will be a sumed that the court has decided that the justice court here is without power.

MRS. RALPH BERGEN THRILLS FRIENDS IN RADIO SUCCESS

Richmond friends of Mrs. Ralph Bergen, 670 Thirty eighth street, were pleasantly thrilled early yesterday afternoon when her rich contralto voice, coming over the radio turned back the pages to the days when Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink was at the height of her career.

Two numbers were broadcast over the regular opportunity hour of KLN, to piano accompaniment, and then came a deluge of requests for additional numbers and Mrs. Bergen was called back to the microphone and sang "Daddy Boy," by Wee Wee, with organ accompaniment.

This song, one of the favorites of the world famous contralto, again brought the greatest attention from her listeners not only here, but as far as the waves of the Oakland station reached.

The first two numbers presented by Mrs. Bergen during the opportunity hour of KLN were "Waitin' In the Shadows," by Wellesley and "Curly Heated Baby," by Clutsam. These were the two regular scheduled numbers on the program for Mrs. Bergen who had been asked to sing over the station without the knowledge of her many friends here.

SYDNEY, Australia, April 1.—(U.P.)—A cyclone struck the Wundah area in northern New South Wales today, where the transcontinental monoplane, Southern Cross, with a crew of four, has been forced down in a wild and inaccessible country.

The storm hindered search efforts, being made by airplane, motor launch and mounted police. Patrols added by native bushmen. It was feared that Capt. Charles P. T. Clin, with their two companions, might be in grave danger from savage tribesmen or other perils of the deep jungle in which they landed.

SOUTHERN PATRONAGE KEY

From all sides come evidences that the Hoover administration is going to be businesslike with startling changes from the formation of Coolidge. But what seems entirely new in American politics, is the fact that with business methods, the new president is going to be able to arrange a new political line-up. This will discourage those whose flair for politics has kept them in the game, because it will elevate to power a new sort of politician—a man whose success in life is not confined to the political field.

It comes from Washington that President Hoover has ordered a new alignment in the south. The White House has served notice on those whose control of the southern republican machine has brought about long standing abuses of patronage, that their day is done. The president has invited the republicans of the southern states to reorganize, leaving out the men whose activities have brought about the postmaster-ship sales and other iniquitous methods of party building.

According to dispatches the leadership of Tolbert in South Carolina, Perry Howard of Mississippi, and others, has been terminated, and the new southern situation will be in the hands of men like R. B. Creager of Texas, Oliver D. Street of Alabama, Emile Kunz of Louisiana and Glenn B. Skisner of Florida.

Even if not inspired by a radical change of political view, the reorganization would be beneficial to the country. But with Herbert Hoover's good sense behind the move, it will mean the eventual destruction of all that fringe of insidious sectional and corrupt local adornment which has worked against the republican party and the national outlook for so many years.

If the presidential plans continue to bear fruit, there will be more significance to the break-up of the solid south than even the most hopeful predicted on the outcome of the November election.

ADVENTURE

It would be strange if the knowledge of flying and fighting in airplanes acquired by a crop of young Americans since the days of real aerial hostilities did not bulge in their brains and demand an outlet. The young men of the air who have been offering to go down into Mexico and battle for or against the federal cause, are just like all other young, vigorous and frisky youths who look for a place to put their abundant energies to use, but they have the added impetus of wanting to see what it is like to dive over a column of troops and sprinkle them with machine gun bullets, to drop bombs and see them go boom in a concentration camp.

It surely occurs to them, also, that there might be some combat with other aviators. And even the fact that the enemy flyer might be an American lad, trained in the same school of aviation doesn't deter them. Certainly fear for the future is being left out of the make up of most of our promising aerial generation.

CHANCE FOR A MAN

American aviators are said to have been offered fabulous pay for service with the factions in Mexico. But this is not the only opportunity opening on a golden vista below the Rio Grande.

If one would arise who would reorganize the fighting on the basis of plotting and negotiation for the loyalties of the promiscuously loyal fighting men, he could control Mexico.

The only way we could get our internationalists to agree on something purely American would be to mark it "Made in Europe."

The premier of Quebec found a bomb in his office. Maybe one of the boys from Chicago had been in to look over the silverware and dropped the thing by mistake.

STATE MAY HANDLE DRY RAID KILLING

AURORA, Ill., April 1.—(U.P.)—Conflicting statements by two men on whose word the "dry" raid which led to the killing of Mrs. Lillian De King was made, added support today to the contention of attorneys for the family who have challenged the legality of the John Doe warrant used by the raiders.

Eugene Boyd Fairchild, "mystery investigator," who dropped a bombshell into the investigation Saturday by admitting he swore falsely to the affidavit upon which the warrant was based, was "crossed" today by the man he named as the actual purchaser of the pint of moonshine at the De King home.

Fairchild had named Philip Johnson as the man to whom he gave $5 to purchase the moonshine at the De King home. Johnson added further to the increased feeling of friends of the De King, who denounced the shooting as "a disgrace," when he said today he bought the liquor from a man along the roadside.

Two Disappeared
Both Fairchild and Johnson disappeared the day after the slaying of Mrs. De King, who was shot by Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith after the officer had knocked her husband to the floor by a blow on the head with the butt end of a sawed-off shotgun.

The deputy claimed he shot in self-defense and contended Mrs. De King was reaching for a gun when he fired at her. Smith now is in a hospital at Peoria recovering from a bullet wound in his hip received when Gerale De King, 12, son of the slain woman, fired a shot to defend mother and father.

State's attorney George D. Carberry, upon whom much criticism was heaped by Kane county officials who charged he was "covering up" evidence in the case, announced today he would petition the circuit court to place the entire inquiry in the hands of the attorney general's office. He said he would ask that he be declared ineligible to conduct the inquiry tomorrow.

Liquor At Home
Assistant Attorney General Charles W. Hadley was sent from Springfield to represent the state. The Fairchild affidavit has occupied the attention of Hadley since he came here. Fairchild, part-time investigator, who was hired at a salary of $5 a day, swore that he purchased a pint of moonshine at the De King home.

Johnson's statement today, however, accuses the investigator of perjury. He denied Fairchild's statements pertaining to the purchase and said he bought the pint of moonshine from a man at the filling station owned by George Stafford at the side of the De King home.

FAMOUS FLIERS LOST IN STORM

A. Leitchfield, navigator, and T. H. McWilliams, radio operator. The distance to Wyndham, from Sydney is 1860 miles. The fliers, lost in a storm passed beyond Wyndham, about 200 miles from Sydney. The last radio message from the Southern Cross said:

"We have been hopelessly lost in a dense tropical rain for ten hours. We are going to make a forced landing at a place we believe to be 150 knots (173 miles) from Wyndham. It is a rotten country. Wish us luck. We will communicate as soon as possible. Cleverly, Uhm." The radio then was silent.

Called 48 Hours
The radio at Perth, on the west coast, has been calling the Southern Cross for 48 hours without result.

The fliers carried 24 sandwiches, thermos bottles of tea and some brandy. There was little hope of locating them in the almost impenetrable jungle. Rescuers trusted that they might have come down near the Drysdale river mission, in which case they might find aid and would have more chance of encountering friendly tribes.

The Drysdale river region, north of the Kimberly diamond fields, is south of the equator in latitude 15. It is covered with dense bush and jungle and is mostly unexplored. It abounds in wild animals and reptiles as well as savage tribes, some of them reported to be cannibals.

Air Ground Search
A Northwest Mounted Police patrol launch left Wyndham at dawn today with gasoline and supplies to search along the banks of the river as far as it could penetrate. Other mounted police with aboriginal blacks, skilled in jungle tracking, left on the interior trail from Wyndham. A relief plane, piloted by Lieut. Woods set out from Port Hedland at 6 a. m. Woods reported tonight that he had reached Fitzroy Crossing, 2100 miles northwest of Sydney, without sighting any trace of the Southern Cross.

The air force was endeavoring to find an old bushman in western Australia to act as observer in a second relief plane. Such a man would be able to negotiate with aboriginal bushmen in seeking traces of the fliers. It was reported that some years ago a Spanish priest, Father Alcade, of the Drysdale river mission was speared by natives. It was reported at the airbase here that the fliers were not armed.

Kingsford-Smith's aged parents, as they did while their son and Tim were crossing the Pacific last year, sat up all night listening for word on the radio. They received many cablegrams of sympathy from the United States, and asked the United Press to express their thanks to the senders.

MORROW TAKES OFFICE

Deliverer Receives

When the Brooklyn ball club, yielded to Dizzy Vance's demand for a salary of $25,000, it made the big blond right hander by far the highest paid pitcher in baseball. The club had two strikes on it before it ever received Vance's demands. The Brooklyn fans never would have tolerated a Vancels team and it is certain the directors sensed this feeling when they yielded. The highest paid pitcher up until the time Vance signed was Waite Hoyt, the boy wonder who burns them over for the New York Yankees.

Bull Fighter, Promoter To Face Arrest

Warrants for the arrest of Manuel August, promoter, and Chavez Ponce, torador, were sworn to in Martinez yesterday on the complaint of Isaac Lester, Richmond Humane officer as the result of a "bull fight" in the San Pablo arena Easter Sunday.

The warrants were issued after Ponce and August failed to appear as they had promised to do. According to Lester, Ponce stuck a barbed dart into the side of a bull at the "fight." He declared that he found the broken darts a few minutes later, hidden beneath the grandstand at the arena. August denies the charges, declaring that he was "framed," declaring that the broken darts were placed under the grandstand.

The incident happened during the first event of the fight. At first Lester was determined to stop the fight but after a lengthy argument he decided to allow the fights to proceed. August maintains that darts, with a spurge of nuchilage attached to the ends to make them stick to the bull's sides, were used throughout the fight.

MANY INJURED IN EASTERN STORMS

CHICAGO, April 1.—UP—April Fool antics of the weather in the Midwest and southwest today caused injury to more than a score of persons and played high jinks with communication and power lines. Two persons were killed by a storm in Ohio.

Conditions varied from tornadoes in Missouri to hail and snowstorms in the region of the Great Lakes. A sixty mile easterly gale swept Detroit while Indiana and Ohio also suffered from high winds.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., was perhaps the hardest hit. Twenty-two persons were injured, 11 seriously by a tornado which swooned down on the town from Hoyle, Ark., and cut a 175 mile swath through southeastern Missouri.

Highways Blocked
Highways in the tornado area were blocked by fallen trees and telephone poles. Violent rains drenched the area. The Ripley county court house at Doniphan was badly damaged and several churches were almost destroyed by the high winds.

Other Missouri towns also suffered. At St. Louis, a 45 mile gale whistled through the streets causing considerable damage. Parrolman Thomas Flood, 50, was seriously injured when an awning frame, torn loose by the wind, struck him on the head.

In northwest Arkansas, farm buildings were demolished, trees uprooted and telephone lines torn down. The storm moved northward from Little Rock to the Arkansas-Missouri line. No injuries were reported.

Cities Isolated

Several Midwest cities were completely isolated by the freakish weather. Milwaukee, Wis., and Waterloo, Ia., had no telephone lines to the outside world. United Press member newspapers in Wisconsin received news bulletins over radio station WLS, Chicago.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company reported all direct lines between Chicago and Cincinnati, Louisville and Cincinnati, Omaha, and Des Moines and south and east of Minneapolis and St. Paul were down.

Wintry weather and cloudy skies prevailed in the Chicago area most of today but late in the afternoon the sun broke through.

Cities Cut Off

A score of Michigan cities were cut off by the southeast gale that reached its peak at Detroit. Snow and sleet covered northern and western Michigan. Ferry boat service between Detroit and Windsor was seriously hampered and a ferry from Walkerville was blown on a reef at the foot of Belle Island.

Seven persons were reported injured in Des Moines, Ia., in automobile accidents attributed to sleet covered pavements.

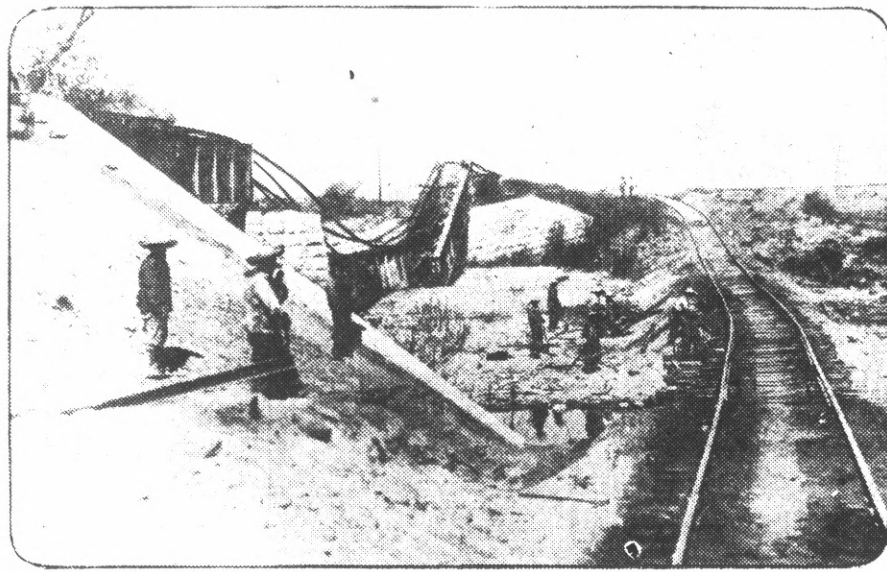

At Newark, Ohio, Louis Cornett was killed when an uprooted tree crashed down on his automobile. Lea Nacon, 15 year old, was killed at Belmore, Ohio, when high winds swept her into the path of an automobile.

Rail and bus schedules were disrupted in Illinois by heavy sleet and wind storms.

LIQUOR PROBE BY CONGRESS SEEN

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(UP)—Closer public surveillance of Congressmen and other government officials who talk and vote dry and violate the prohibition law, as well as the exercise by him of more care, is expected to follow the wide publicity now being given two house members who face the tolls of the law.

It is not at all unlikely there will be a congressional investigation of the two incidents which have turned the spotlight directly upon the men who make the laws—charges of bringing liquor into the United States involving Representatives Michaelson, Illinois, and Morgan, Ohio, both republicans, and both of whom voted for the drastic Jones law.

The public, naturally, will want to know just how widespread is "kinking at the law" among those who make it, a law the public is exhorted to obey. President Hoover, the public naively feels, was talking to congressmen and other officials as well as the rank and file of the citizenry when he appealed in his inauguration message for support from the great body of so-called law abiding citizens.

Charges have been made, intermittently, on the floors of congress that some members who vote dry, drink wet and it is no secret that this has been the case. But the Hoover administration has directed attention so prominently to prohibition that it is not likely any such incident hereafter will be allowed to pass lightly. The next time a waiter drops a bottle in the senate restaurant, if that ever happens again, or a bootlegger is caught hustling through the house office building as did the now famous "man in the green hat," the whys and wherefores most likely will be pursued to the end. The owner of the bottle may be traced, likewise the clients who were served with the wet goods which the man in the green hat carried in his brief case.

Beyond general charges on the floor the question never has been pursued by crusading dries or militant wets. No names ever have been called. Former representative Upshaw, Dem., Georgia, brought such charges into congress first, and once waved a whiskey bottle before his fellow colleagues which he said he had found in a trash basket in the house office building.

The private argument advanced by wet drinking dry voting members is that they are sent here to represent sentiment of their districts, and thus they vote dry. This is not an explanation of their personal habits, but of their voting.

CONGRESSMAN IN RUM CASE SURRENDERS

CHICAGO, April 1.—(UP)—Congressman M. Alfred Michaelson, of Illinois, a dry advocate who had been sought for three days on a charge of violating the prohibition act, surrendered himself at the Federal building today.

Michaelson was charged in an indictment returned last October at Jacksonville, Fla., with smuggling liquor into the United States from Cuba. Details of the indictment were not disclosed until last week.

A warrant was issued for his arrest last Friday and the congressman was given 24 hours to surrender.

Michaelson denied the charges made in the Jacksonville indictment, calling them "absolutely unfounded."

"All I want to say now is that I hope the public will withhold its judgment until the facts are known. There was no liquor in this case at all," said the congressman.

Michaelson was taken into the office of Edwin K. Walker, United States commissioner, who set his bond at $2,000 pending proceedings to remove him to Jacksonville, Fla.

Martinez Church Will Burn Note

MARTINEZ, April 1.—A ceremony to mark the burning of a $660 note is being planned by the members of the First Congregational church here as members attending services Easter subscribed more than double the amount needed in a plea for financial assistance.

Subscriptions totaled $1290.83. The surplus above the amount needed to meet a local note will go toward meeting a note of $750 due in June to the Congressional Building and Loan association on a $7500 loan. The loan was secured to aid the church in building its new $50,000 edifice.

Fire Damages Martinez Home

MARTINEZ, April 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGee returned from an Easter visit in San Francisco last night to find that the Martinez fire department had paid them a visit during the day.

Before leaving for San Francisco McGee placed ashes from the furnace, then three days cold, in a cardboard box. A live coal hidden in the ashes is believed to have started the fire. Damage was slight, as neighbors noticed the smoke pouring from the basement and called the fire department.

REBELS BOMB NACO FROM PLANES

Calles reported that after fighting from one a. m. until sunrise, federal troops had advanced to within a mile of Jimenez. The main bodies on both sides were engaged, Calles said.

REBEL PLANES BOMB NACO

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., April 1.—UP—Headquarters of the Mexican revolution here announced that two rebel airplanes had bombed the federal garrison at Naco, Sonora, today in the third air attack in two days.

No one was reported injured in the latest attack.

Two persons were killed and another wounded when rebel fighters dropped bombs on Naco Sunday. The first occurred on the second attempt after bombs exploded on the first visit had done practically no damage.

Monterrey, the rebel column of Gen. Fausto Topete, governor of Sonora, was reported still about five miles south of Naco after its twenty mile advance from Del Rio.

The force moved on troop trains which were halted at their present location Saturday night.

The federal unit Gen. Lucas Gonzales remained in the trenches which surrounded Naco on three sides and waited for the possible advance on ground forces against the town.

The reason for Gen. Topete's failure to move forward was not announced here.

Fire Damages Veteran Home

LOS ANGELES, April 1.—UP—Two hundred United States war veterans were reported to have fled to safety when a frame building at the National Soldier's Home in Sackett's was swept by fire which did damage estimated at $5000 today.

The fire, of unknown origin, started in an old guard house and spread to the larger building, which was being used as a temporary adobe building for new arrivals. The blaze worked downward from the top of the building, destroying the roof and part of the second story.

BIDS ASKED FOR EL CERRITO PAVING

The council of El Cerrito at its meeting Monday ordered bids called for the improvement of Albermarle street between Eurcka and Lincoln avenues with an asphalt macadam pavement and concrete sidewalks, curbs and gutters on April 15.

Applications for the renewal of 23 soft drink permits for the coming quarter were granted by the council.

Due to the fact that the plainclothes policeman on duty at Mammy's Place had failed to quiet the disturbances the council instructed to have Chief of Police R. R. Cheek have the policeman put in uniform.

Horner, Wife To Head Receiving Line At Dance

Potentate and Mrs. Clare D. Horner of Richmond will head the receiving line at the formal spring dinner dance of Aahmes shrine temple to be held Thursday evening at the Claremont hotel in Berkeley.

Reservations for several hundred schiners and their ladies have been made for the affair, states C. Earl Brooks, general chairman of the evening. On the program are two outstanding features, including Madame Julia Rendison Musser, soprano of New York and Don Julian and Senorita Marjorie, terpsichorean artists of Agua Caliente, Baja California. Decorations for the affair have been installed by Jack Block, vice chairman of the entertainment committee. Many prominent members of the shrine from distant points have accepted invitations to this affair.

Flames Damage Crematory Here

Damage of more than $50 resulted Sunday when fire of unknown origin broke out in the basement of the crematory at Sunset View cemetery, El Cerrito. The El Cerrito fire department responded to the alarm. The fire was probably due to spontaneous combustion, Fire Chief Arthur Byrd stated.

Accounting Asked For Local Hotel

MARTINEZ, April 1.—Louis H. Thomas and C. E. Tompkins today filed suit against Mrs. Florence Harris, manager of the Hotel Hacienda in Richmond demanding an accounting of her stewardship of the hotel on a profit sharing basis. The plaintiffs allege that Mrs. Harris was installed as manager of the hotel on Sept. 5, 1928, and that up to Feb. 1 he had failed to render an accounting of the business.
